The 'Djembe Drum - Budget - 6in diameter, 30cm high,

Early Years' is the biggest of our Early Years budget djembe range and is supplied with a free wooden drumstick and our Early Years "Good Practice Guide". The drum is 6" in diameter and is a working drum and not a toy. It's big enough for smaller children to play with two hands, and it makes a surprisingly good sound. It's really good for young children because it can be handled easily and carried around by the string handle, but it can also be played by older children and even grown-ups, either with the free wooden drumstick provided, or with the fingertips. Being relatively small it makes a higher pitched sound than bigger drums, and so can be a useful addition to a bigger djembe collection.

Each drum is made by hand using traditional materials and techniques. The wood is mahogany, the playing head is goatskin and the skin is stretched tight using cotton string. The designs on these instruments vary from drum to drum and are engraved into the wood by hand by Wayan, who supervises the production of all our djembes. The designs were all created by Balinese primary school children and you can see some of their other designs ... read more
